

<<Back

Cortina Inn Reopens After Legionnaires Scare

Mendon, Vermont - May 19, 2008

The Vermont Health Department has allowed the Cortina Inn to reopen.

Officials closed the motel last month after three cases of Legionnaires Disease were traced back to the building's hot water tank. The Cortina Inn was fined $10,000 by the Health Department because it had failed to maintain its water system. But the fine will be waived if they follow the department's rules for prevention and testing.

All content © Copyright 2001 - 2008 WorldNow and WCAX. All Rights Reserved.
For more information on this site, please read our Privacy Policy and Terms of Service.